African Development Bank

15, Ave du Ghana, P.O. Box 323-1002, Tunis-Belvedere, Tunisia

The African Development Bank (AfDB) Group's mission is to help reduce poverty, improve living conditions for Africans and mobilize resources for the continent's economic and social development. With this objective in mind, the institution aims at assisting African countries individually and collectively – in their efforts to achieve sustainable economic development and social progress. Combating poverty is at the heart of the continent's efforts to attain sustainable economic growth. To this end, the Bank seeks to stimulate and mobilize internal and external resources to promote investments as well as provide its regional member countries with technical and financial assistance.

Le Groupe de la Banque africaine de développement (BAD) s'est donné comme priorités la lutte contre la pauvreté, l'amélioration des conditions de vie des populations africaines et la mobilisation de ressources pour le progrès économique et social de ses pays membres régionaux. Le but essentiel de la BAD est de contribuer au développement économique et au progrès social des pays africains, pris individuellement et collectivement. Dans ce cadre, le défi majeur de la banque est la réduction de la pauvreté en Afrique. A cet effet, elle cherche à stimuler et à mobiliser les ressources intérieures et extérieures, à promouvoir l'investissement, ainsi qu'à fournir une assistance technique et financière à ses pays membres régionaux.

Anthology Film Archives

32 Second Ave.,
New York, NY 10003, USA

Anthology Film Archives is an international centre for the preservation, study and exhibition of film and video with a particular focus on American independent and avant-garde cinema and its precursors found in classic European, Soviet and Japanese film.

Anthology Film Archives evolved from roots and visions that go back to the early Sixties, when Jonas Mekas, the director of the Film-Makers Cinematheque, a showcase for avant-garde films, dreamed of establishing a permanent home where the growing number of new independent/avant-garde films could be shown on a regular basis.

This dream became a reality in 1969 when Jerome Hill, P. Adams Sitney, Peter Kubelka, Stan Brakhage, and Jonas Mekas drew up plans to create a museum dedicated to the vision of the art of cinema as guided by the avant-garde sensibility. A Film Selection committee – James Broughton, Ken Kelman, Peter Kubelka, Jonas Mekas and P. Adams Sitney – was formed to establish a definitive collection of films (The Essential Cinema Repertory) and form the structure of the new institution.

Archive of Popular American Music

Los Angeles, CA, USA

The UCLA Music Library's Archive of Popular American Music is a research collection covering the history of popular music in the United States from 1790 to the present. The collection, fully accessible at the item level through the UCLA Library Orion2 catalog, is one of the largest in the country, numbering almost 450,000 pieces of sheet music, anthologies, and arrangements for band and orchestra. The collection also includes 62,500 recordings on disc, tape and cylinder.

Particular strengths within UCLA Music Library's twentieth-century holdings include music for the theatre, motion pictures, radio and television, as well as general popular music, country, rhythm and blues, and rock songs.

The Digital Archive of Popular American Music is an initiative designed to provide access to digital versions of the sheet music, and performances of the songs now in the public domain.

Article 19

6-8 Amwell St., London EC1R 1UQ, UK

ARTICLE 19, a human rights pioneer, defends and promotes freedom of expression and freedom of information all over the world.

Censorship Kills. It starves and it represses. It denies people access to information essential to their life.

Established in 1987, ARTICLE 19 fights for all hostages of censorship, defends dissenting voices that have been muzzled, and campaigns against laws and practices that silence.

We take our name from article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights which states:

"Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive, and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers."

ARTICLE 19 monitors, researches, publishes, lobbies, campaigns, sets standards and litigates on behalf of freedom of expression wherever it is threatened.

We provide expertise on international human rights standards and for legislation that protects the right to speak and right to know in countries emerging from conflict, war and genocide or repression.

We campaign to safeguard media pluralism, independence and diversity of views.

We promote the right to know of poorer communities and advocate for the implementation of freedom of information legislation to ensure transparency and strengthen citizens' participation.

We champion freedom of expression, including freedom of information, as a fundamental human right that is also central to the protection of other rights. Freedom of expression allows people to demand the right to health, to a clean environment, to memory and to justice. It makes electoral democracy meaningful and builds public trust in administration. It strengthens mechanisms to hold governments accountable for their promises, obligations and actions. It provides external checks on state accountability, and thus prevents corruption which thrives on secrecy and closed environments.

At present, we work with more than 80 implementing partners across the globe that are active in areas such as human rights, freedom of information, democratization, the media, women, health and environment.

Asian Civilisations Museum

1 Empress Place, Singapore 179555

The Asian Civilisations Museum (ACM) is the first museum in the region to present a broad yet integrated perspective of pan-Asian cultures and civilisations. As one of the National Museums of Singapore under the National Heritage Board, we seek to promote a better appreciation of the rich cultures that make up Singapore's multi-ethnic society.

While Singapore's forefathers came to settle in Singapore from many parts of Asia within the last 200 years, the cultures brought to Singapore by these different people are far more ancient. This aspect of Singapore's history is the focus of the ACM. The Museum's collection therefore centres on the material cultures of the different groups originating from China, Southeast Asia, South Asia and West Asia.

Asian-African Legal Consultative Organization

New Delhi, India

The Asian-African Legal Consultative Organization (AALCO) is an international governmental organization formed in 1956, initially to serve as an advisory board to member states on matters on international law. It was an outgrowth of the Bandung Conference, held in Indonesia during April 1955, which led to the establishment of the Asian Legal Consultative Committee (ALCC). In April, 1958 it changed its name to the Asian-African Legal Consultative Committee (AALCC) to reflect the growth of its membership beyond the African side of the UAR. Since 2001, it has been known by its current name, the AALCO, reflecting the growth of its international status; currently an Intergovernmental organization having received a standing UN invitation to participate as an observer in the sessions and the work of the General Assembly and maintaining a permanent office at Headquarters.

BFI – British Film Institute

The BFI (British Film Institute) promotes understanding and appreciation of Britain's rich film and television heritage and culture. Established in 1933, the BFI runs a range of activities and services.

BFI Southbank (previously the National Film Theatre) screens over 1,000 films a year, from rare silent comedies to cult movies and archive television screenings. The venue hosts previews and gala screenings as well as events and on-stage interviews with filmmakers, actors, producers, critics and writers. The BFI publishes a wide range of books on film and television, including criticism, theory and history as well as popular companions to individual film titles.

The Times London Film Festival is Europe's largest public film event and runs for two weeks every autumn, showcasing the best in contemporary cinema from around the world at venues across London. The BFI also runs the annual London Lesbian and Gay Film Festival each spring. Both festivals tour extensively across the UK.

The National Archive www.bfi.org.uk/nftva is the largest archive of moving image material in the world. Started in 1935, the collection includes over 275,000 films, 210,000 TV programmes, seven million photographs and 15,000 posters. Archived material is accessible via curated exhibitions and screenings in cinemas.

The BFI releases a range of films on video and DVD including classic, world, silent and documentary cinema and archive television.

The BFI National Library offers access to the world's largest collection of information on film and television. Its holdings include over 46,000 books, 5,000 periodical titles and over two million newspaper cuttings.

BFI runs programmes for about 30,000 learners of all ages at BFI Southbank, as well as providing resources in print and online to support film education across the UK. We are a national advocate for film in the education sector, working particularly in the last 5 years with the literacy curriculum at primary level. In www.screenonline.org.uk we have the definitive online guide to British film and television.

BFI publishes the monthly film magazine Sight & Sound. With a focus on quality cinema, the magazine features commentary and analysis, in-depth reviews and full credits for all new releases.

Bermuda National Gallery

The Bermuda National Gallery opened in 1992 with a core collection of historic European paintings, now known as The Watlington Collection, bequeathed to Bermuda by Hereward T. Watlington. The Gallery has since developed as the Island's arts museum and is an educational resource as well as an entertainment venue. Both loan exhibitions and special events reflect Bermuda's varied artistic heritage and multicultural community.

The Gallery has maintained a standard of excellence in its drive to advance and promote the arts in Bermuda. Each year the Gallery features three major temporary exhibitions as well as occasional smaller installations. Shows are created through loans from generous local collectors of historic and/or contemporary international art, through collaborations with other local art organizations or museums, through jointly curated shows with international museums or by bringing international travelling exhibitions to the Island.

The British Library

St. Pancras, 96 Euston Rd.,
London NW1 2DB, UK

The British Library (BL) is the national library of the United Kingdom. It is based in London and is one of the world's largest research libraries, holding over 150 million items in all known languages and formats: books, journals, newspapers, magazines, sound and music recordings, patents, databases, maps, stamps, prints, drawings and much more. Its book collection is second only to the American Library of Congress. The Library's collections include around 25 million books, along with substantial additional collections of manuscripts and historical items dating back as far as 300 BC.

As a legal deposit library, the BL receives copies of all books produced in the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland, including all foreign books distributed in the UK. It also purchases many items which are only published outside Britain and Ireland. The British Library adds some 3 million items every year.

The Library is a non-departmental public body sponsored by the Department for Culture, Media and Sport.

The British Museum

Great Russell St.,
London WC1B 3DG, UK

The British Museum is a museum of human history and culture situated in London. Its collections, which number more than 7 million objects, are amongst the largest and most comprehensive in the world and originate from all continents, illustrating and documenting the story of human culture from its beginning to the present.

The British Museum was established in 1700, largely based on the collections of the physician and scientist Sir Hans Sloane. The museum first opened to the public on 15 January 1759 in Montagu House in Bloomsbury, on the site of the current museum building. Its expansion over the following two and a half centuries has resulted in the creation of several branch institutions, the first being the British Museum of Natural History in South Kensington in 1887. Until 1997, when the current British Library building opened to the public, replacing the old British Museum Reading Room, the British Museum was unique in that it housed both a national museum of antiquities and a national library in the same building.

Canada Science and Technology Museum and Canada Agriculture Museum

1867 St. Laurent Blvd.,
Ottawa, ON K1G 5A3

The museums are national leaders in experiential learning, engaging Canadians in hands-on exploration of the connections between science, technology and culture, through exhibitions, programs and demonstrations. They share their science, technology and agriculture collections, an exceptional library and photographic archive, through web sites and travelling exhibitions.

Les musées sont des leaders d'envergure nationale en apprentissage expérientiel et encouragent les Canadiens à explorer les connexions entre la science, la technologie et la culture par l'entremise de démonstrations, de programmes et d'expositions interactives. Ils partagent leurs collections, leur bibliothèque exceptionnelle ainsi que leurs archives photographiques par voie de sites Web et d'expositions itinérantes.

NATURE

P.O. Box 3443, Stn. D,
Ottawa, ON K1P 6P4

The CMN is Canada's premier natural history museum, housing over 10 million specimens. It conducts research in Canada and around the world in mineralogy, botany, zoology and paleobiology. Dynamic educational programs and exhibits at CMN's downtown Ottawa galleries, as well as travelling exhibitions, share the wonders of nature with Canadians.

Le MCN est le principal musée canadien en sciences naturelles. Ses collections comptent plus de 10 million de spécimens et ses spécialistes effectuent, au Canada et ailleurs dans le monde, des recherches dans des divers domaines : minéralogie, botanique, zoologie et paléobiologie. Des programmes éducatifs et des expositions dynamiques sont présentés dans les galeries du MCN au centre-ville d'Ottawa.
